1. Girls Night

**Authors Note: Hai! This is AppleTehSweetPie and my first fanfic so constructive criticism is extremely encouraged. Also please forgive me for any spelling/grammar mistakes. I hope you like the first chapter, I will post new chapters when I can. If you have an idea or notice a mistake then please leave a review or PM me, I will read every review and PM so go for it! NOW, cause this is lame blabbing, on to the story! ******

**[I don't own anything but the story idea]****

* * *

>It all started when the we decided to have a girls night at Lucy's place...

[Lucy POV]

I was sitting on my bed while the other girls were scattered around my home. We were all relaxed, doing the girl stuff we couldn't do at the guild when the boys were having brawls or listening into our conversations. Mira, Erza, and Wendy were painting their nails, while Levy, Juvia, and I were braiding each others hair.

We had already eaten our dinner of random snacks everyone had brought from their homes and we had decided not to play truth or dare because of a certain demon who could be quite cruel when it comes to the game, and we had done all the gossiping as soon as everyone stepped into my home. We had nothing in particular to do til Levy decided to take out a book called _Mysterium Magia_ from her bag.

"What's that Levy-chan?" I ask as I watch her try and open up to the middle of the book, having trouble because of its massive size.

"It's an old book I found in the guilds library, I asked Master what it's about and he said he has never really looked into it before so I thought it could be a fun to play around with" She answers as she finally opens the book and blows on the page making dust fly everywhere.

"Juvia doesn't understand, how could it be fun?" she came into the room after looking at her beautiful braid in the mirror.

"Well that's the fun part!" she exclaims "Like this one!" she points in the book. At this point all the girls were gathered around on the bed surrounding Levy and the mysterious book.

"Isn't this a bit dangerous Levy-chan, I mean we don't know what it could do" I nervously mentioned, worried about what kind of spells such an old book can hold.

"I agree with Lucy, this could be an extremely dangerous book. This book was most likely not written for the fun of a girls night." Erza speaks up for the first time since she started painting her nails.

"But this could be fun! I mean what if there is a love spell in there!" Mira pointed out as she was probably dreaming about all the couples she could make out of the Fairy Tail members.

"Love?!" Juvia perks up from hearing the word and soon started mumbling to herself about Gray and her love rivals.

"I guess it could be a little... um... interesting I guess.." Wendy mumbles just loud enough for everyone to hear.

"Alright! That's four against two Lu-chan! Majority rules! Lets do it!" Levy looked back at the book after Erza and I finally gave in.

She decided she would say the spell that she first pointed out to. We all agreed that whatever happened we would fix as soon as possible. "Ok guys! Here we go!" She lifted both her hands in front of the book as we all watched her as she spoke the words "Quantum in me est, et numerum quoque eorum, et nos mutamur in forma catta" The book flashed white and I blacked out with the rest of the girls.

[Levy POV]

I woke up from a deep slumber I never remembered going into, had I gotten drunk? No, there was no hangover. I looked next to me and saw a yellow cat, more like golden. I swiveled my head to the other side and saw a dark blue colored cat with small pink bits on its ears. Where did these cats come from? I stood up, realizing that it was morning. But when I felt myself stand fully up, I was much shorter than usual. I ran to the mirror not believing what I had concluded was happening in my mind but there I was, standing on four feet, with two small ears, and a tail. I had turned into a small light blue kitten!

I quickly pounced off the bathroom counter and awoke the others. Erza was a beautiful scarlet, matching the name Jellal had given to her. Juvia was a darker colored blue but not as dark as Wendy's fur. Wendy had the darkest blue fur out of the all of us with pink bits on her paws and ears. Mira was as white as the clouds and her blue eyes were much more defined. And Lucy who had been the last to wake up, was a stunning color of yellow or more like gold and her chocolate eyes were just the true eyes of a kitten, all of us looked adorable and huggable.

"Oh! We look so adorable, I just want to hug each of us" Mira was obviously liking our new looks as we all looked at ourselves and each other in the mirror.

"What are we gonna do?! The book is gone and we have turned into kittens? Levy-chan... I told you so!" Lucy was about to tear the pillow she was holding, or more like laying on, to pieces.

"This is awesome! I mean... I wonder what Gaje- I mean the boys would think of our new look" I turned away with a huge blush because of the slight mistake I had made. I could feel Lucy's and Mira's smirks behind my back.

"I know what to do in this situation! We find a box!" Erza announced, confusing the all of us. She furthered her explanation after noticing all of our expressions, "We get a box and pretend that we are abandoned kitties and place the box in the front of the guild! It is still 6 in the morning so not too many people should be there yet"

"Juvia thinks that is a great idea. We can look for more info while pretending to be little lost kittens. Oh! Maybe Juvia can get an owner." We all liked that plan, we figured that Fairy Tail will bring us in and each give us an owner to live with till we have found a way to lift the spell.

"Alright.. Let's go!" Lucy couldn't have looked more excited.

2. Little Kittens

**Authors Notes: Hello this is AppleTehSweetPie again! I am super happy with all the reviews! I will try and answer a couple of them every time but I read every single one of them and every single one makes me super happy! Now onto some answers/comments I have about... your comments... (well said by me)**

**inukekarynatsusu - Thank you for the compliments! I am actually going to do something like that, I will be making a couple chapter per respective couple for the adventures they will have, or maybe some fluffs... who knows? (0_0)**

**JoJo Dragons - I like the idea of adding Bisca to the girls group, I might do that by editing the first chapter but its all up to what I feel like. Also I loved that reaction, I will also try to write more chapters as quickly as possible!**

**Now onto the story (and no more blabs of how happy I am about the reviews) (did I mention I love your reviews?）**

**Oh! BTW this is placed after the 7 years in Tenroujima and the Grand Magic Games.**

**[I don't own anything but the story idea]**

* * *

>[Lucy POV] at around 6:30am

We had all jumped out of my window and had gotten a small box from the recycling bin near my home. We were running through the streets of Magnolia while trying not to gather too much attention to ourselves. The world from a cats eye was a whole new world, everything I thought was small as human were huge. Even the Great Titania Erza had trouble carrying a small cardboard box.

I had a piece of paper in my mouth spelling out the words "ABANDONED" and "FREE" ready to be stuck on the box once we get to the guild, Erza and Mira had a box on they're backs, and the rest were following behind. We had also decided to leave a note at my house to not worry the boys if we couldn't return to our normal selves by today.

"Ar we dere ye-t?" I asked trying to ignore the fact that I had to carry a piece of paper in my mouth and not in my hands.

"We are almost there Lu-chan! I can see the guild sign!" Levy answered from the front of our group.

We all ran for what seemed like hours until we were finally in front of the guild that looked like 20x it's usual size. All of us were extremely exhausted from the long run to the guild, Erza and Mira settled the box right in the middle of the path to the guild, right in front of the doors that we couldn't open no matter what we tried leaving us to stay outside. After I had stuck on the sign that I had been carrying in my mouth, we all jumped into the box, all fitting quite snugly.

All of us started noticing the trickle of rain falling from the sky, after a couple minutes it started to come down in buckets. Everyone started shivering, except for Juvia who had the fur that prevented the rain from getting to her and kept her warm. We all huddled trying to get away from the soaking walls of the cardboard box, when we all fell asleep.

[Natsu POV] at around 8:00am

"I wonder where Lucy is? Maybe we should go check up on her?" I looked up to my flying companion, slightly worried about whether Lucy was okay or not.

"We can't! She told us not to, if we did she could become the devil, and NOT GIVE ME AN FISH!" Happy started mumbling about her taking away his fish and how she was 10x scarier than Erza. But after a few seconds he noticed the tone I had used when I asked about Lucy and immediately said "You llllllllllllike her~~~!" he slurred the L in like.

After a couple seconds of us rambling about who we liked, neither of us giving in or telling the truth till Happy remembered something, "Oh no! Carla! I forgot I said I was going to go on a... uhh... MISSION today with her!" He quickly flew away, heading for the train station to go on his one week "mission" with Carla and he didn't say anything about Wendy. Maybe a date? I snickered while imagining Carla and Happy on a date.

I soon got to the guild, "Yo!" I slammed the door open with as much force as I usually use, but instead of the usual brawls and loud guild that I love, I was met with Gray, Laxus, Gajeel, Romeo, and Jellal (who had come to visit Erza the day before, unfortunately coming after she left for Lucy's house) encircling something, while the rest of the guild was not as curious but quieter than normal.

"Oy! Flame brain come here!" Gray motioned me to come over and look at what they were surrounding.

"What did you call me yo-" I ran over and stood next to him and was about to call him some insulting nickname and punch him in the face when he slapped his hand on my mouth and pointed to where he and the rest of the guys were looking at. I turned my head and saw a stunning golden kitten looking at me with the biggest brown eyes, it slightly reminded me of Lucy. Then looked around the table and saw that there was a soaked cardboard box in the middle of the table with some towels inside and five other cats looking at separate people like they knew who they're respective owners were.

"What should we do with them?" Laxus was staring at the angelic white kitten.

"I.. don't know..." Jellal was mesmerized by the scarlet kitten who was sitting up straight, looking right at him. He had a little blush for reasons I didn't know of.

"Maybe we can take one each, since they ARE abandoned, they need a home" Gray proposed, when he finally stopped staring at the dark blue cat that had gotten down from the table and was purring while rubbing on his leg.

"I can take care of this one" Romeo had a blue kitten that was considerably smaller than the rest in his palm.

"I don't really care... I don't really give a crap anyways..." Gajeel had a tint of pink on his cheeks while he looked away from a blue cat that had somehow gotten onto his shoulder.

"Alright, this ones mine" Laxus took the white cat over to the bar where Jellal was already playing with the red kitten that he took right after Gray suggested keeping them.

"I guess this ones mine then, sounds awesome!" I tap the golden cat on the head, and took her with me. She was such an elegant cat, I have never seen anything like her, she meowed in a peaceful tone when I took her in my arms. This little one is now part of the Fairy Tail family.

>Whew! Finally got chapter 2 done! I hope you guys will enjoy it. Considering its spring break for me at the moment, I will probably be posting one every day but who knows. I might do another one later today! Please leave a review on what you think about this chapter (and make sure to tell me if I made some weird mistake)(or leave any suggestions on what I should do next but I got some idea)

**Thnx for reading! -AppleTehSweetPie**

**PLEASE DO:**_** Think of names that Natsu and the boys can name Lucy, Erza, Juvia, Levy, Wendy, and Mira as cats. I have an idea but you guys probably have better ones, I might use yours!**_

3. Our Owners

**Authors Note: Hello my lovely readers! You guys have been super amazing! I thought this would be kind of terrible considering this is my first fanfic but I am extremely happy with the reviews you guys are giving the story, so this is another chapter, hope you guys like.
**

**LucyHarem.1 - I love the name suggestions I think I am going to use the one that you thought of for Juvia, Shore is just sup adorbs! I might even use the Aria for Wendy! Thanks for the suggestions.**

**[I don't own anything but the story]**

* * *

>This chapter is what happened from the last chapter but in the point of the view of the little kittens that are the girls...

[Erza POV]

I woke up to see everyone still huddled in the box, Levy was hugging Lucy who was hugging her back while Wendy was in between them, Juvia and Mira were both right beside me laying around.

I stood up and stretched myself out. When I looked up to see a clouded sky, I saw five men staring down at us, and... "J-Je-Jell..al?!" I stuttered quite loudly, earning a smile from him. I jumped out of the box to look around, we were on one of the tables inside of the guild and Gray, Laxus, Romeo, Gajeel, and.. Jellal was curiously looking at me and the rest of us.

"Huh?" I heard Mira say as she and Wendy jump out of the mini box we were all huddled in.

"What is thi-" Juvia slowly climbed out of the box, upon realizing Gray staring at her, "GRAY-SAMA!" she headed straight for him. I quickly noticed the fall from the table to the floor and I quickly ran in front of her and gave her my signature glare. She immediately backed down.

"So I guess we have been taken in huh?" Levy asked as she jumped out of the box with Lucy. "Considering they haven't screamed about us being able to talk, to them we are probably just meowing like normal cats"

"Ok, like we promised we are going to search for how to return to our normal selves as soon as possible. So first let's stand in front of the person we want to taken in by." I said when noting that everyone was awake, but after saying what I said I realized that everyone already knew what they were doing.

Levy had gotten on Gajeel's shoulder, obviously blushing. Juvia, when I wasn't watching, had gotten down from the table and was rubbing her back on Gray's leg while rambling about her and him and their future. Romeo had picked up Wendy and was petting her. Laxus was staring at Mira as she stared back with a little blush. And Jellal was scratching the back of my ear. When I turned my head to Lucy, she didn't have anyone and was just staring at the guild doors when BAM! a loud noise was heard from the front of the guild.

[Lucy POV]

"Yo!" I perked up from staring at the table and my paws when I heard the voice I loved to hear, Natsu.

He came in alone without Happy. I quickly remembered what Happy had told me before the girl's night, saying that he and Carla would be going on a "mission," I looked up and saw his face already inches away from mine.

The boys were speaking about what to do with us but I wasn't paying attention because of how lost I was in the onyx eyes in front of me. But I straightened up when I heard the words "take one each" and "need a home"

I looked around and saw all the girls had already gone off with their respective owners, Erza with Jellal, Juvia with Gray (obviously), Wendy with Romeo, Mira with Laxus, and finally Levy with Gajeel.

I smirked at Levy and told her to meet at the guild library when our owners fell asleep. Just then a pair of warm hands picked me up from where I was sitting and pet me on the head, I was about to get mad at this person but when I saw who it was I blushed, it was Natsu and he picked me as his kitten.

He put me on his head, I felt the pink hair that looked spiky and messy but was surprisingly soft. I already felt Levy's smirk as we left the guild, I felt the cold air surround me, I started shivering. Natsu picked me up with his left hand and moved me to his chest. I snuggled on his chest and felt instantly warmer. I looked up to see him looking at me with that bright smile that I had come to love seeing.

"You have a family now, you will never be abandoned again, you are with us.. with me.. with Fairy Tail!" I saw his smile widen and saw his eyes glint with happiness as he registered me, as a cat, as part of Fairy Tail and.. his family.

And even though he could only hear a meow from me, I unconsciously, with watery eyes looked into his eyes and said "I love you too..."

>This one was a bit shorter than the other chapters I think and because I feel bad I might just post another chapter today. But that last bit was a it hard to write, tell me if you liked it and leave a review telling me so! Thanks for reading! Peace!

4. My Unfading Flower

**Authors Note: OK! Because last chapter was much shorter than the others I decided I was going to post another chapter today, which is chapter 4! I have decided to make one or two chapters for each pair. Also I am extremely curious to why I can't read all the reviews, it says they're is 14 reviews but when I click to see what you guys have written only the 9 that I have read come up. Very frustrating, just my pc?***

**maidenoftheluminousrapture - Thank you so much for PMing me! It means a lot, especially when I can't read reviews cause my pc is being dumb but aside that like I said thanks so much for the naming ideas, its something I much appreciate. You made me realize that I have to really think of the meaning of the names (durp!) Hope you like this chapter and what I did with the name! ****

**PM your reviews or comments for now cause either my pc is being dumb or the site is being strange. HALP!****

>[Lexus POV]

After taking the white kitten to the bar counter, I noticed that the girl that always made me happy wasn't here. That made me instantly sad, although I didn't show any changing emotion but it seemed as though the kittens knew. She jumped out of my arms and onto the bar counter, she circled around and sat down then looked straight in my eyes with the most mesmerizing blue eyes._ It was the same blue as the eyes of someone extremely important to me, Mira. My lo- wait what?! NO, I do not have interest in her whatsoever... Where is she though?_

"Oi! Kinana, where's Mirajane today?" I quickly looked up from my beautiful white kitten.

Kinana walked over from where she had been cleaning some beer glasses, "I haven't seen her, but WHAT IS THAT?!" She pointed at the cat like she has never seen anything like it then scooped the kitten into her arms. "What are you naming it?"

"Naming it...?" _I didn't give it a name. I didn't even think about that... What could I name it... _ I was staring at the kitten as it was staring back at me. The kitten kind of reminded me of Mira, it had her white hair and her blue eyes and it looked beautiful and strong at the same time.

"I know!" Kinana suddenly perked up, cutting off my thoughts. "You can name her Amari! I heard it means unfading flower and strength!" _Unfading flower... Strength... Yeah, that's perfect just like my love, Mir- I mean what?! I don't have a lover... but that name sure matches..._

"Alright, guess you're with me, Amari." I reach out my hand and Amari jumped out of Kinana's arms and onto mine, she slowly walked up my arm and licked my cheek. _What is she doing? I mean I guess that's just what kittens do... right? Maybe she wants milk! Yeah that's it... milk! _

I put her back down on the counter table but instead of calling her over I decided to grab the milk myself since it's MY cat.

I got out of my seat after Kinana left to serve some other guild members their drinks, I went behind the counter and into the kitchen where I saw Mira's apron, something I knew she wore when in the kitchen but not when serving. It was pink, _of course, _standard apron, and it had her name sewn in white on the front. I unconsciously walked to it and smelled it, it smelled like roses and honey, a smell I would never forget.

I noticed that I was standing in the kitchen and was smelling an apron, I quickly moved away, sad that the smell had left my nose, and went to the refrigerator to get some milk. I poured some in a random bowl I found and went back to see Amari patiently sitting on the counter with her tail perfectly whipped around her, she sat in perfect posture just watching the guild and the chaos that rang through it. _She seems so peaceful._

I went behind her and put the bowl of milk in front of her when I smelled it, that same smell that I had smelled but it was different. It was the same roses and honey but it was covered by something, as if the smell was covered by a blanket, it was strange but I quickly blew the thought away... but it still bothered me.

[Mira POV]

After a day of milk and some fish, and almost everyone had left, Laxus brought me up to the second floor of the guild to a room for when people stay over.

It had a plain white bed for one person, a lamp on a bedside table, and a small window. The window brought small bits of moonlight inside, it kept the room in a low glow.

"Amari, come here!" _What a weird name, but Kinana had said that it meant something... What was it? _"You coming?" I looked up to see Lexus already in bed, _WITHOUT A SHIRT! How the hell am I supposed to sleep when he is sleeping next to me shirtless! *sigh* calm down Mira, you have to act like his cat, Amari. _

"Yes! I'm coming!" I called back, although I knew that he didn't understand my words. I ran to the bed and jumped for it but I couldn't get up, "Almost... there... super... close!" _I hope he doesn't pick me up when he notices I can't get up alone... or else I will... AAAH!_

"There ya go! You just needed a little help." He picked me up with both hands. _He picked me up! And that cute face I just want to... I mean.. _I started to blush from the thought. Then he did the worst of the worst, he hugged me.

"Wha-"

"It's alright, I will help you whenever you need help, even if I have to put my life on the line. I will always protect you..." He put his forehead on mine, "my love..." He kissed my nose, "Mirajane Strauss"

*POOF*

"What?!" I was in my normal pink dress and heels, in his arms, in human form... on a bed. My face immediately turned tomato red. "How did you know it was- But how did I retur-" I was completely freaking out, had too many questions and was extremely embarrassed. But then he put his right arm around my neck and pecked me on the lips.

He rested his forehead on mine, his eyes closed while mine remained widened from the surprise kiss, "I love you too, my unfading flower" _What? He feels the same way for me? But... I don't- Oh screw it!_

I didn't know I was crying till he wiped a tear off my face with his thumb. He glanced down at me with a concerned expression.

I moved both my arms and put it around his neck, I kissed him. Not like his small peck but one filled with passion and love. _Who would have I thought I would fall in love with this crazy lightning bolt? _"I love you..."

"I know"

* * *

>And that is all! This one was the first of the six couples, it was a little hard to write but I think I got it down! I hoped you liked it! Thanks for reading, peace!

5. That Glint

**Authors Note: Wrote this right after Chapter 4 so I haven't seen any extra reviews yet so... ON WITH THE STORY!**

**BTW I changed Wendy from having white bits on her ears and paws to pink because I think that makes more sense (her dragonforce)**

**Thoughts of the POV characters are gonna be in **_Italics_**.

**[I don't own anything but the story idea]****

* * *

>[Romeo POV]

I left the guild with my new pet or more like family member in my hand. She was beautiful, she looked at me with brown childish like eyes, she had dark blue fur but with light pink fur on the tips of her ears and on her paws. What made her look extra cute was that she was much smaller than the rest. _She kind of reminds me of Wendy... wonder where she's at... I should probably first take care of.. of..._

"What should I call you huh?" I pet her head making her eyes widen. _Well she is small and cute, and looks especially like Wendy... heavenly!_**gasp* _"I got it! I will name you Ten! I read in a book once that Ten means sky and heaven."

I paused for a moment.

"You know? You kind of remind me of this girl I know..." I looked down at her and saw her head tilted to the side, "She is nice, sweet, gentle, and well cute. I like her but I don't know if she feels the same..." *sigh* "She probably has no interest in me..."

Then Ten moved up my arm and locked eyes with me. I saw a glint of something in her eyes... something that I have seen before... something that was precious to me... _Where have I seen that?_

[Wendy POV]

We sat down on a bench at the town park.

"What's her name?" I asked, I knew he wouldn't understand me but I asked anyways.

I was kind of jealous of this girl he was talking about, I have had a slight crush on him since I had come back from Tenrou. _I guess if he's happy that's fine but... UGH! That's not fair! I want to be that girl! I mean- that is JUST FINE! _

"You know..." He put me down on his lap and put his hands behind his head, and laid back on the bench and closed his eyes. I did almost the same, I turned around to face the park, I put my tail around me and sat down but I laid my back on his stomach or more like abs.

"I think I should confess to her but..." He seemed to be struggling with his words, then he just sighed. We sat there for what felt like an eternity.

I opened my eyes when I felt he had moved me to his shoulder, _Man! Why is he so cute? And why does he like someone else... so unfai- I mean.. I DON"T CARE!_

He lifted me up from his shoulder and put me in his palm and he jumped up from the bench and started walking the opposite direction of his home.

"Wha-? Where are we going?" all he could probably hear were meows but somehow he knew.

"Well, we are going to the beach cause I know you love the beach, right Ten?" _What?! How does he know I love the beach, I'm his new cat and there is no way he could of figured that out in less than a day..._

At this point we were already down at the beach front, and it was sunset. Beautiful pink and orange filled sky, the wind was blowing on us softly, you could hear the water coming up to the shore and then flowing back down, you could smell the food coming from the town, and you could even taste a small bit of salt in the air from the ocean in front of us.

"Pretty awesome, right Wendy?" *_gasp* But why does he-_

_*_POOF*_

"AAH!" I was in the most awkward position. The sun had already gone down and I was in his arms on the beach front, in my pajamas, in human form! "Uh- uh.. um.. I didn-.. mean to- um.. sorry" I couldn't get my words out properly.

He just smiled, it was almost a smirk. But not an evil smirk but a happy smirk, like he had known that I was the cat since he first saw me.

He put me back down, I felt the sand on my toes since I didn't have my shoes on. I looked down and fiddled with my fingers, not quite sure what to say.

"You know..." I looked up at him and he was also looking down with a slight blush on his cheeks, "that girl that I was talking about earlier..." he reminded me of how jealous I was when he first told me about this girl._ He said she was nice, sweet, and gentle, what a lucky girl she is... _

"Yeah..." I mumbled.

"Her name is Wendy Marvell"

[Romeo POV]

I looked from the ground to see her reaction, she flinched and looked up to see me.

Then she did the worst thing of all, she started tearing up! _What did I do?! Does she hate me that much?_

"Whats wrong? Did I do something bad? I'm sor-" I went up to her and was brushing her tears off her face with some cloth I had in my pockets when she pushed my hand away.

"No, I am not interested in you"

My heart sank, it hit the bottom and cracked. It was the worst feeling I have every felt, I thought I was going to cry but then she hugged me and buried her face in my chest.

After what felt like an hour of her in my chest and me dying from what she had said, she moved her head to look up at me, then I saw it, that glint I had seen earlier.

"I love you" She said it with such purity. It took me a second for that to register in my mind and heart. My heart rose back up from the pits of darkness and recovered from the crack. She then rose up and pecked me on the lips.

"I love you too"

I saw it again, that glint, it was the glint of Wendy, her heart.

"You have the most beautiful eyes, you know that?"

* * *

>And that is all for Romeo and Juli- Oh no.. I meant Wendy (sorry Juliet) I hope that was good enough. It was hard because I didn't know how to get Romeo to realize that Ten was Wendy but I think that "the glint" was good enough. Hope you guys liked it! Might do another one today, idk, lets see!

6. My One and Only Blossom

**Authors Note: Well, this has been AMAZING! There are 25 reviews and 55 followers! I am extremely grateful for all the people who have read my weird fanfic and for being super nice about it (even though its my first fanfic) So I just wanted to thank those for your support! Now here goes!**

**[I don't own anything but the story idea]**

* * *

>At an inn in Magnolia, at midnight, after coming back from the chaos of Fairy Tail...

[Jellal POV]

I walked into my room in the inn I had payed to live in for a couple of days. I put my jacket (or more like cloak) off and set it on a chair in the corner of the room. I put my new kitten down on the mattress and went into the bathroom.

_Why does that cat remind me of Erza? That reminds me, I came to tell her something important and she wasn't here... *sigh* hopefully she will tomorrow._

I took my shirt off, leaving me shirtless. I went out of the bathroom with just some shorts. But when I came the room I saw the most delicate image.

I saw the window slightly open, the curtains blowing inside because of the night breeze, and the midnight moon's light seeping through it. When I followed the light to the bed I saw my kitten. Her burning red fur was gently blowing, and she was peacefully looking out at the moon and the buildings under it. She turned her head when she heard me move toward her. You could clearly see her bronze eyes through the darkness look into mine. _She is so pretty._

[Erza POV]

I was looking at the moon when I heard the creak of the wood and turned my head to see Jellal without a top. _Wha-? Why? But- That's not appropriate... I mean its not like I couldn't get used to it..._

He came over and sat on the bed, I felt my cheeks start to burn up.

"I think I am going to call you Blossom." He suddenly spoke up after a minute or two of silence, "It makes sense, your beautiful scarlet fur. It matches you perfectly."

"What a nice name!" Although I was a cat I responded with as much joy as I would have had if I was in human form.

In that moment I really noticed how cool Jellal looked. He had that beautiful blue hair that was slightly ruffled from all of the chaos he had gone through earlier in the day, his skin a bit tan with that red mark over his right eye, and he had those brown eyes. _So mesmerizing... NO! Snap out of it Erza, I have to stick to the plan that all the girls came up with! We are going to find a cure and change back to our normal form! _

He then picked me up and laid down on the bed, putting me right up against his chest. I could hear his heartbeat and could feel his chest moving up and down in a nice slow pace.

"Why can you not tell? I obviously have feelings for you... NO! I MUST stay on task!" I was trying to tell him, knowing that he wouldn't understand but I really wish he did, quickly reminding myself of the task at hand.

A couple minutes later, I felt his breathing had gotten slower and that his heart had also slowed down to a more relaxed pace. I got up to search his room, he shifted a bit but I was able to get by.

I walked to his bedside table where I saw his phone, I pressed the button to turn it on. The lock screen made my heartbeat fast and my face heat up. It was a picture of when we had gone to a new years festival. I was in a pink yukata with fireworks of different colors scattered on it, Jellal was behind me with a blue yukata with the same design. He had taken his mask off for a second to get the picture taken, his face was blushed and had a small smile on his face while looking at me. While I stood next to him holding up a piece sign with one hand and had my other arm slung around his shoulder. I was smiling the brightest smile, a smile HE could only get me to smile. It was a memory I could never forget. Then I saw that flower in my hair, it was a beautiful ruby flower that I had said was my favorite flower. I remembered that he had picked it off of a random bush and put it in my hair once the bell rang midnight and the fireworks went up, it was a moment I will and have forever cherished.

I then jumped off the table and ran, careful to not make a sound, and went to his small old trunk. Inside sat a few things, some lacrimas that I didn't bother to look at, a couple papers that I had no interest in, a couple clothes that looked okay, and then I saw the final item that really caught my eye, it was a small navy box.

I curiously jumped for it when I felt an arm rap around my chest while I was still midair, it stopped me from getting to the box. I was slightly disappointed when he took the box for me, turned me around and brought me to a small chair in the corner of the room.

I sat there, extremely curious to how he noticed me, what he was going to do, and most importantly, what was in that mysterious box? _Is it some poison? Maybe a bomb? No, Jellal wouldn't go back to the dark side... or would he?_

He then kneeled with one foot in front of him, he had a mild blush on his face and wasn't looking at me properly. _OK, now what is he planning... Should I run away? Call for help?_

He took my hand... er paw and said with a soft, gentle voice, "Will you be my girl friend.." He looked away from the box he had been intently staring at in his palm and looked at me with those spruce colored eyes, "Erza Scarlet?"

*POOF*

I was back in my normal form, in my pajamas that I had been wearing when at Lucy's but that didn't matter, the room was quiet while I was trying to register what had happened in the last minute.

My brain registered that he was kneeling in front of me with the case opened now, it had that same flower, that same ruby flower, my favorite flower. He took the flower out, stood up and went up to me. He gently moved my hair that was covering my right eye around my ear and put the flower on, I opened my mouth to say something but no words would come out.

He took that slight moment and kissed me, I hesitated but less than a second later I melted into it. Although it was only a five second kiss it felt like five minutes. He held my shoulders with his hands and looked straight into my eyes and right into my soul.

[Jellal POV]

"You are my flower, my blossom, my ruby blossom, a blossom that I want to see everyday blooming, a blossom that I miss when I'm away, a blossom that I love with all my heart, Erza Scarlet will you be my girlfr-?!" I was stopped by Erza's lips, my eyes widened when seeing her kissing me with as much passion as when I had kissed her only a couple seconds before.

She quickly retreated to look at me.

When I heard the words I have wanted to hear since I met her at the Tower of Heaven.

"I would love to, Jellal Fernandes, I will be your blooming ruby blossom,"

I took in her words, letting out a breath I didn't know I had been holding. But she wasn't done.

"as long as you're the water and sun that keeps me blooming." She looked into me with the most gentle smile on her face. I didn't hesitate to answer,

"I will be your water and sun, and make you bloom your brightest everyday."

She then put on a beaming smile that I rarely got to see, with small bit of tears on the corners of her eyes.

I hugged her, silence rang through the room for a couple of moments,

"You are my one and only blossom"

7. My Misfortune, His Candy?

**Authors Note: I am super happy with how this fanfic has turned out! Especially because this is my first fanfic! But thanks everyone who has read it, reviewed it, followed it, or favorite it! Its wonderful!

Now let me shut up and get on with the next pairing!**

**[I don't own anything but the story idea]**

* * *

>[Gray POV]

Once that weird cat saw me it immediately clung on to me right foot.
_Ugh! Why do I have to take care of this cat..._

I looked down and I saw it looking straight at me with the biggest navy blue eyes, then I noticed her gorgeous blue or almost purple like hair, and not to mention her cute little whiskers.

I picked her up from clawing on my shoe and put her in front of my face. _Did she just blush? _Then she meowed the cutest meow I have ever heard. _What should I name her? She's blue, my favorite color, Shore? Water? ... I got it! Need to thank Juvia for it though... Where is she anyways, she's usually clinging on to me by now... or more like stalking me._

"I'll name you Ame, it means rain, now lets go home before the weather gets worse." I saw her eyes light up.

I put her in my coat (that I found on the floor under a random table) where she could stay away from the cold breeze that was going through Magnolia. I felt her wanting to come out though, I picked her out after walking a block or two away from the guild and set her down in front of me, she started walking to the direction of my home. Looking back to see if I was there every few moments. _As if I would leave her..._

She didn't walk in a sassy or moody way, she walked gently as if she was walking on glass, and it looked even more mesmerizing when it started to drizzle, making her fur sparkle. She turned to look at me again but this time it looked a bit more sad, she quickly turned away from my gaze.

[Juvia POV]

Eventually Gray-sama and I got to his house. It was 20x bigger than the last time I had seen it. The house was a moderate size for one person, we went in and there was a nice living room and a kitchen connected to it, and down the hallway were two more rooms.

I loved the smell of his home, because it was the best smell,
GRAY-SAMA!

The walls were blue and his counters and sofa were navy. It was quite a cozy home.

I jumped up to one of Gray-sama's drawers while he had gone to get something to drink in the kitchen.

I saw may pictures, a picture of the Fairy Tail family when he was a child, when he came back from his first mission, and many more interesting ones, when I walked over a little further on the counter I saw a picture of him and me?!

We were at the doorway of the guild, coming back from the first mission we had done together, I was smiling brightly while holding his hand so his arm would be slung over my shoulders. He was looking slightly away from me with a small cute pout on his face and... a blush? You could see all the other guild members around us laughing or taking pictures of us. _I didn't know Gray-sama kept this photo.

I kept moving to the edge of the drawer where I found a couple more photos. I jumped off and got onto a small side table next to the couch, it had a white lamp and another picture.

It was of me and only me. _What? _I looked at it for a couple more seconds when I remembered when he had taken that photo, it was when we were at our first mission, I was in my normal attire sitting on a red train seat. My head was sitting on the back of my hand as my elbow rested on the armrest of the seat. The sun that was setting outside the window making my face covered by an orange light. I was looking at his direction with a surprised expression and a small blush, my other hand was near his camera about to cover the lens. I then remembered him smirking after taking the picture and saying he would delete it. _I thought he deleted that.. and I thought Gray-sama didn't care for Juvia..._

I then felt two cold but warm hands lift me up, I was then laid onto their leg, I turned my head to see Gray-sama laying on the back of his couch while watching his TV that I didn't notice he had turned on.

A couple moments of staring at him later, I noticed that he didn't have his shirt or his pants on and was just in his undergarments. I blushed after realizing but then settled down when I noticed a big bandage like cloth and how it wasn't on the wound properly.

I started to worry because I had not known of such wound, although I did realize he had some distress, I tried to move when I noticed another thing, he was stroking my back with one of his hands. _Why hadn't Juvia noticed such thing? Why is he doing this? Oh, right... because I'm Ame... I wonder if he would do this if he knew Ame was Juvia..._

I struggled but got out of his grasp and I moved myself to the wound on his left side, causing him to shift.

[Gray POV]

When I looked down to see Ame had left my grasp I saw her going towards the wound that I had gotten on my last mission, the wound was bothering me but I didn't make any comments or expressions on it because I didn't want to worry anyone but I guess Ame caught on. _J__ust like Juvia does. _Juvia was the only person in the guild who would notice his distress, even if it was the smallest bit.

She got to it and brushed her whiskers on it making me hold in a small laugh because of how ticklish it was, then she put her paw on it and pushed the bandage up so it would cover the entire scrape. But that wasn't it, she then did something that I knew only one person did for only one person, she used her paw to circle around the whole wound then lightly tapped the middle of the bandage, she did the motion very quickly.

It was something that she did every time very quickly, something she probably thought I haven't noticed but I noticed it every time since the first time... _Juvia._

I blushed after thinking about that and apparently Ame noticed because she put her paws on my hip and pushed on it, making her grow a bit in height to see me closer. She looked at me with sad, confused, curious eyes.

But that's when I noticed something... Her paws were as light as feathers and that she felt like.. _her_

[Juvia POV]

Gray-sama had picked me up and was looking at me with a very strange face, it looked like he was examining me...

But then he did the most unexpected thing, he kissed me, right. on. the. lips.

I was so surprised I couldn't move or react and I immediately started to fell lightheaded till... *POOF*

I was sitting next to him on the couch in my short purple nightgown. I was a centimeter or two in front of his face, looking up at him, while he was looking down at me. We were silent till I fully recognized the position I was in.

"Juvia is sorry, she did not mean to be a nuisance..." I mumbled while I jumped back to the other side of the couch, I was looking away from him with a blush that could rival Erza's hair. I started mumbling when he put a hand on my shoulder.

"When did I say you were a nuisance?" My eyes widened as I heard his words, I started to lightly cry. He must have noticed because he moved me to look his way, I was looking down but I could feel how worried he was from just being there.

"I'm glad that you were okay, I thought you went off somewhere when I didn't see you or any of the other girls today..." My light crying got a bit heavier when I heard he was worried about me._ Juvia_ _thought she just brought Gray-sama misfortune... why does he care about me?_

He brought me into a light hug. I put my head in the crook of his neck and started to bawl, finally letting out all the packed up feelings I had about my misfortune. I made my hands into light fists and put them on his chest. He seemed a bit shifty, I knew he didn't really know what to do with girls but he started to lightly brush my hair, rubbing my back while doing so.

After a few moments when my crying got a little lighter, I pushed him back slightly and looked up to see a gentle smile on his face. He then moved his hands and cupped my face and kissed me again, my eyes widen again.

Then he pushed back, "Why are you sorry?"

"Uh- well, Juvia thought that she has always bothered you and that she was all full of misfortune and that nobody could ever lov-" He kissed me on the nose.

"Your Gray-sama loves you, and Gray-sama never thought of you as misfortune." He put his forehead on mine. "Gray-sama told you," He took a deep breath "You are his Ame. His sweet piece of candy."

I smiled softly, and he smiled a gentle smile back.

"Gray-sama loves you" I giggled from his way of speech.

"I love you too" He widened his eyes from my way of speech, then kissed me on the lips with more passion.

_I guess I'm not all misfortune..._

8. I Forgive You

**Authors Note: I am super sorry for not posting yesterday! I felt terrible for not doing that! It was mainly because I was lazy. But for that I made this a bit longer, with a bit more LOVE! **Karina NaLu- Yes you will in a later chapter! But I think you could guess...**

**poogahm- I am just a curious cat but then who do you think is the right guy for Mira? I feel like Laxus is the best one for her personally!**

**NOW! Onto the frikin' story!**

**[I don't own anything but the story idea]**

* * *

>[Gajeel POV]

"Pfft, why do I have to take care of a random cat?" I mumbled to myself as I crunched on some random pieces of iron that Kinana had given me while I watched my new cat sipping some milk from a small cat bowl.

Personally she was the prettiest one out of the six that came out of that box this morning. She was a bit smaller than the rest (a bit bigger than one of them though [*cough* Wendy *cough*]) Her fur was a dark sky blue and when I picked her up I could feel how soft it was, I don't understand how someone could abandon her.

I came back from my thoughts when I felt her fur brushing against my hand. I looked down to see her holding a piece of iron in her mouth, _that must taste horrible! What the hell does she think she's doing?! UGH! So annoying..._

"Put it here" I held out my hand as I told her in a volume that only she can hear, noticing that I am talking to a... cat.

She turned around and slid the heavy piece of metal on the counter top backwards. She walked off the counter and onto my hand, once she was on my forearm. She placed the iron on my hand and quickly jumped up to my shoulder. _Guess that was her motive, huh? Sneaky little bastard... _

I ruffled its head, making her scowl. That's when Lily flew by and landed in front of me.

"Hello, Gajeel. Hello... uhh.. cat." He looked from me to her, "What are you going to name this new cat that you have picked up?" He obviously didn't know how I got her.

"I don't know. Maybe uhh... kitty?" I shrugged. I never was really good with names.

"You are going to be naming this kitten... kitty...?" I just shrugged at him again while hearing the cat meow in an annoyed tone at my lack of creativity towards picking names.

"I read in a book..." the cat seemed to perk up at the Exceeds words.

[Levy POV]

I heard the word 'book' and all my focus went to listen to Lily.

"that there is these gods and-"

"Yeah, yeah, yeah! Get on with it! What are you trying to tell me?!" I was a bit annoyed at how Gajeel wanted to skip over the informational part, which was my favorite, but I also was extremely curious to what Lily was trying to point out by telling us, or more like Gajeel with stuff that had to do with gods. _Like he would ever pay attention to any of that stuff... _

"Well, there is this one goddess named Eos which means dawn and I think it also said how this goddess was a very sunny natured one." He was scratching his chin while trying to remember exactly what it said.

"And why the hell are yo-"

"OH! Eos also brought forth the hope of a new day... I think it said..." Lily cut off Gajeel without noticing and immediately answered what he asked a minute ago, "And uh- I was going to suggest that we name your kitten Eos"

Gajeel seemed to wander off in thought after Lily suggested the name, I thought it was pretty and I have definitely heard of the goddess before.

"Alright! Now you're with us Eos!" He roughly grabbed me with his large hand and almost crushed me with his hug, I could pretty much feel him smirking. I squirmed and escaped because of my small size.

I quickly jumped out of his lap, although it was comfortable there, and headed for the guild doors so I could get Gajeel outside. I knew that Gajeel never really bothered to get a house, he just slept wherever he could and found iron in some random shop or alley, so I just wandered outside.

He caught up to me. I thought he would stay at the guild because he looked like he didn't have a care in the world for me, but he quickly ran for me leaving Lily behind with the kiwi's Kinana had given him.

"Eos, wait a sec!" he sounded as if he couldn't catch up to me, I looked back and couldn't see him, I got a little worried. But when I turned back he was right in front of me... smirking.

"That's not cool Gajeel" I pouted without realizing, he picked me up.

"Oh so I guess you don't like it when I scare you like that huh?" He was smirking even more than before, I just let him carry me under his arm.

He smelled like iron, as expected, but I didn't hate it. It actually smelled good. He made me feel protected, as if a dragon was watching over me, and only me.

A little later it started to rain, and we had gone out of Magnolia and into a near forest. He found a place for us to sit and rest.

Our cover was a huge oak tree, a tree that looked as if it had been growing there for centuries, he set me down on the green grass letting me walk around the tree whilst looking up at the sky and its leaves. It was beautiful, the dark green of the leaves matched the light green of the grass, the sound of the water trickling down and landing on the leaves or falling through and splashing on the grass. Then there was Gajeel, who just sat underneath the tree, his piercing red eyes were looking at me as if I were an unknown creature, and I was staring back at him, our stares continued on for five more seconds till I looked away and at the waterfall that was behind me. I could see the rainbows that flickered on the water as the water continuously splashed into the small pond below it, and I could feel the heat from the sun leave as it went down and below a mountain.

As the night grew darker I felt myself feel a bit cold, or more like very cold. I was on a rock near the soothing waterfall trying to fall asleep but the coldness never left me, leaving me conscious.

I opened one eye to the big oak where Gajeel sat minutes before, but he wasn't there. I started panicking. I pounced over to where he sat and wandered around the tree helplessly, "Gajeel! Here are you?! Gajeel?" I asked for him, unconsciously wanting him near by to protect me from the dangers of other creatures, mages, or humans.

I wandered off a little farther when I heard something the sound of a... pencil scribbling on a notebook?

I followed the noise to a small but cozy looking cave. I sneaked in, where I found Gajeel on an old looking wooden bed, on his right was a small, broken, but still usable bookshelf that laid on the a wall of the cave, on the other side was a small light in the wall with an old desk underneath it. It looked very cozy and welcoming but still matched him and his personality, strong, vicious, and uncaring. The house and him were opposites but it made sense.

I slowly crept pass the bookshelf, noticing that all those books were mine. _When did he get those? Oh! I was looking for that... ugh, why does Gajeel just take my stuff and how? So annoying... _

I was on the other side of the bed when I heard him grunt and throw a piece of paper towards where I was, I went over to it and quietly opened up the piece of yellow paper.

In strange but readable handwriting it said:

**_Dear Shrimp,_**

**_I'm just writing to myself.. this is dumb why do I do this anyways? Oh right! So I can show you these when I forgive myself from what I have done to you_**

_What is he talking about? Forgiving himself? For ME?_

**_I wish I could just be strong enough to tell you what you really mean to me, god dammit! Why'd you gotta be so frikin' cute all the time! You're making it hard for me_**

I blushed from his writing, _I didn't know he thought that! WAIT! Does he- he-..._

**_I need to forgive myself for..._**

This random letter, that was written in terrible handwriting was the sweetest thing I have ever read. I_ didn't know he still felt that.. I already told him... I need to tell him!_

I felt a tear coming down my face.

*POOF*

[Gajeel POV]

"Wha-? EH?" I looked over my shoulder from the writing that I was told to do by Lily and saw a girl in her pj's sitting in MY cave?!

I saw her, she had blue hair and a band on her head, with orange shorts and a huge white t-shirt. I noticed the white t-shirt to be the one that Shrimp stole from me. _She wears that eh? But WHAT THE HELL IS SHE DOING IN MY CAVE AND HOW THE HELL DID SHE GET IN?!

Then I realized what was in her hand, a small piece of yellow paper that I had written and rejected only minutes ago. I was freaking out but kept still and quiet till I saw her shoulders shaking, and heard sniffles come out of her.

She was crying. _Why is she crying? What the heck do I do?!
Uhh..._

I was kicked out of my extreme panic when I felt her hugging me tight, I didn't even notice she had came to me. I didn't move a muscle.

She was sobbing in my shirt and gripping on it for reasons I didn't know.

We sat there together for a while, I just sat there whilst she cried like the rain.

She mumbled something... she mumbled it ever so quietly, even with my enhanced dragonslayer hearing I could barely hear her, but I still was able to hear every word.

"I forgive you"

I froze, I looked at the cave wall, too scared to do anything, _should I say what I wanted to tell her? Should I say sorry? Hug her back? _I was freaking out in my mind. But she made all the decisions for me.

She moved my head so I would be facing her, she had stopped crying, you could see the tear stains on her face from all the crying. She looked at me with her beautiful chestnut eyes and she cupped my face and kissed me with her plump lips, my eyes were wide and hers were closed as she pecked my lips with hers.

She moved away quickly, realizing what she had done I saw her face heat up of embarrassment. _Why did she do that? Why was she crying? What didn't I protect her from?_

[Levy POV]

I was hiding from Gajeel as I realized what I did. _WHY DID I DO THAT?! OH MY GOSH!_

"Shrimp," I hated that nickname but loved it at the same time, "Do you know what you are to me?" I stare up at him, my emotions not faltering.

We stared at each other for what felt like eternity till he put his hands on my shoulders.

"You are Eos, I was listening to Lily, he said that it meant.. uhh.." He looked up for a moment to remember, "Eos brings forth the hope of a new day, and you do that for me everyday..." he paused, my tears pushing to fall out but I won't let them as he bent down to put his forehead on mine, "just by being here, alive and happy." I couldn't hold my tears in and I let them fall down my face but they weren't sad tears like the last, they were joyful tears, happy tears.

I hugged him, and this time, he hugged back.

"I will never forget that day we met Gajeel" I said while still hugging him tightly, he got tense and let go a bit to look at my face, he had sadness within his eyes. But I didn't regret what I had said.

"I'm sorr-"

"It was the best day of my life..." I stopped my tears, and I looked up at him with the biggest smile I could muster, "I love you Gajeel"

He kissed me back gently, neither of us embarrassed like we last were, he let go and we looked into each other, our foreheads still where they were, his voice was gentle.

"I love you too, Levy"
